The confidentiality of student records is protected under federal law known as the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). Under FERPA, you may access student information only in the legitimate educational interest of the student, and you are required to keep all such information strictly confidential.

Under FERPA, "legitimate educational interest" means you are authorized to see student data which is necessary for the fulfillment of your professional responsibility at Campus Cafe. This authorization is based on the condition that you agree to prevent other persons from accessing the confidential information available to you. However, FERPA does provides that when necessary, you may share such information with other school officials having the same authorization, and who also have a legitimate educational interest in the student. Your careful discretion in such matters is essential.

You must not allow your Campus Cafe password(s) to be shared with any other person.

If you do not agree with the above terms, you'll need to take two steps: 1) refrain from accessing any student information, and 2) notify the Registrar. The Registrar will inquire whether you have a specific concern that may be remedied, or whether your online menu options may need to be modified in accordance with your personal preference. Your cooperation is appreciated and is essential to compliance with this important body of federal law.
