Updates to User Experience Within Steelhead

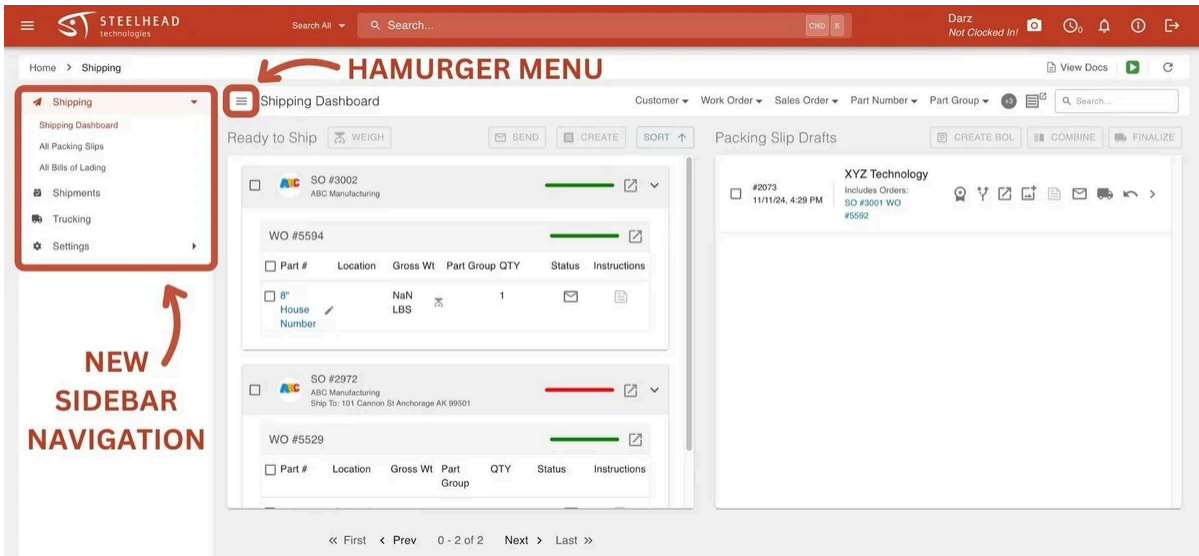

On Thursday, November 14th 2024, Steelhead released an update to improve the way users navigate Steelhead. This update affects the look of the Shipping dashboard, and the Racks dashboard, and a button has been added to the Prices dashboard.

See a quick overview of the changes here:

- The tabs that were previously across the top of the page within the Shipping dashboard can now be found within the new sidebar navigation menu.

* Note that this menu defaults to closed on mobile devices. Click the hamburger menu to open and close the sidebar.

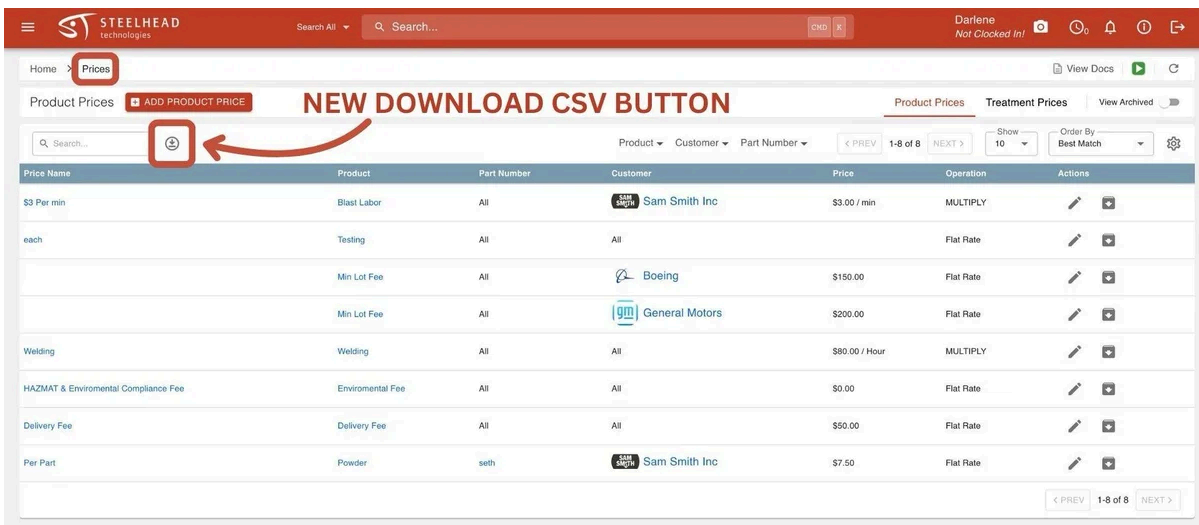

The core functionality is still the same, with a few additional buttons on the Racks and Prices dashboards.

- The Racks dashboard has the addition of the sidebar, as well as three changed icons across the top of the table

- The Prices dashboard has a new Download CSV button

We hope these updates improve your experience of Steelhead. The goal is to have consistent pages across the platform that behave intuitively, so that every dashboard is very easy to navigate.

As always, please reach out to us at support@gosteelhead.com with any questions!
